An Explosion. A druggist came very near poisoning a young man in this city the other day, and we alinde to the matter that it may be a warning to almost anybody. It seems that a young man of highly respectable family, "whose name we withhold out of regard for his friends," who are more or less on their muscle at times, took a dose of morphine to drive off the officets of a lerge quantity of beer that he had here drinks ing for the purposs of sobering off on. The morphine, the beer, and the stuff he had first caken had lett bis stomach in a very unbappy for a dose of something that would have the desired effect. The drawgist thought a minute, and came to the conclusion that a saidletz powder would be about the young man's size, and went behind his prescription bar and mixed it up. Coming out from behind the soroen, he set the two tun. blers before the youth of our land, and supposing of course that the patient had been there before, walked along to where a customer was waiting to see what was wanted. It opposts, however, that the young man was more familiar with the general size and contour of a drink of whiskey than he was with a seidiliz powder, and supposed of course that one glass con-

put the fire out.
The liquid in one of the glasses was perfectly transparent, as it always is, and the other con-tained a sediment as it always does, and he concluded at once that the sediment was the dose. Taking a glass in each hand he "downed" the sediment, and then poured in the water! There came a burst of thunder sound, the boy, ticed. At the end of five minutes the tempost seemed to have spert its tury, and it was thought that with proper care the young man might be prought through. At the end of an hour he ral-lied, opened his eyes, and recognizing the druggist, asked how many had been killed. He seemed to think there had been an explosion of chemicals. He is now walking about the streets, apparently as well as ever and the only thing noticeable is a sort of disjointedness in his conversation, caused by his stopping occasionally to gulp up wind.—Peck's Sun.

Big Horn Canyon, in the Yellowstone region, never before traversed by man. Wishing to save 200 miles' travel around the mountains, they concluded to try the capyon. With some cools they bad in their mining camp they bailt a frail graft at the bottom of the canyon, haying previously taken down their material of red cedar. The boat was made twelve feet long, three feet wide, and upon trial was found to carry its cargo of freight and passengers admirably.
So on the morning of the 231 of July 'bey unied it and pushed into the current. The rush of the river, which before the starting was almost desfening, was terrible as the boat ashing by below them, would run along a ledge of rocks, jump from crag to crag, where footiog for man would be impossible, and disanpear. Evening coming on, they attempted to the up for the night. They worked the beat close to shore, jumped out, and away went the craft carrying the guns and provisions. With starvation behind them, and hardly a flothold before them, their chances of keeping on were doubtful, when they luckily found two loge, which they lashed together with their bolts, and again trusting to the river and still more dangerous rocks they set out to search for their boat, which they found two miles below, whore it had stopped in an eddy. cultivated, deepened and onlarged, is worth a hundred shallow ficulties. The first law of success at this day, when so many matters are clamoring for attention, is concentration; to bend all the energy to one poit, looking neither to the right nor the left. Is has been justly said that a great deal of the wisdom of a man la this century is shown in leaving things ucknown; and a great deal . f his practical sense in leaving undone. The day of universal scholars is past. "Life is short, and art is long." The range of human knowledge has increased so enormously, that no brain can grapple with it; and the man who would know one thing well must have the course to be ignorant of a housand things, however attractive or inviting. As with knowledge, so with work. The man who would get along must single out his specialty, and into that must pour the whole until the last of the month (for cash only) ALL scream of his activity-all the energies of his hand, eye, tongue, heart and brain. Broad culture, many sidedness, are beautiful things to contemplate; but it is the narrowedge men, the man of single and intense purpose, who steel their sous against all things else, who accomplish the hard work of the world, and who are everywhere in demand when hard work is
